Learn to Support Others in Connecting with the Positive Future Possibilities

Use the power of positive forward movement to support others on their life's journey. The Akashic Records are the perfect place to get the support to move in a positive direction, even if there are unhealed aspects of your life. Everyone has what it takes to follow their dreams and desires right now.

Use this format below, as well as the Future Possibilities worksheet, as you work with others.

How to Do This:

1. Open the Akashic Records of your partner. Settle in and connect with their Soul Guidance Team (SGT).
2. Ask your partner to begin sharing their visions, dreams and desires. Encourage them to share their strengths and weaknesses relative to manifesting this desire. Simply listen at this point.
3. It is perfectly fine to share all of their emotions too: the areas where they feel confident and the areas they may feel unsure, worried or insecure in any way. Keep listening now.
4. Then ask their SGT to support you in sharing the next best step toward this dream or desire. When you ask for this kind of guidance you will receive action steps that are aligned and doable now. It can be something very simple, obvious, logical and grounded. It may be an “inner game” suggestion such as finding a way to see the positive in all that is happening to open up their energy field to new options.
5. If your partner does not feel it is possible to do what has been suggested by their SGT, then please ask them to share their concerns and ask their SGT for something that is more manageable for them at this time.
6. It is important for your partner to put their suggestion(s) into action since that will create the new energetic pattern that will align you more closely with your dreams.
 - a. If the suggestion is more esoteric, or only energetic, then you can ask them for a grounded step that your partner can do to manifest this or put it into their grounded reality.

7. Also, be open to the SGT suggestions about needing to release older patterns that aren't serving your partner at this time (you can work on easily releasing those patterns in your Akashic Records!) or illuminating ways that they can adjust their dream or vision to be more aligned with their Soul-Level Truth.
8. Sometimes it is required to go deeper below the surface of our dreams and desires to see what is truly there and work on manifesting that deeper level.

Here's an example to illustrate #8:

Perhaps you have fallen in love with someone who is married, which simply means they are unavailable to you at this time. Because of the love you feel you will only see that person as your ideal partner and you will work toward manifesting only that person to be part of your life.

In this situation there are several people involved and a lot of free will!

What you can do is go deeper, beneath the surface of what you desire in a relationship. You can consider what qualities that the other person has that are desirable to you. You can cultivate the vision of what you believe your life would be with them, without attachment to that one particular person being "the person" you are meant to be with.

You can then work in your Akashic Records to be a vibrational match for the type of love and relationship you wish to experience without the requirement that it happens with the person who is currently not available to be in a relationship with you now.

9. Be Open to Many Different Pathways of the Manifestation of your Desires. It may happen the way you wish or it may happen in a way that might surprise you!

Consider working in your Akashic Records to successfully maneuver through life successfully so you feel VICTORIOUS!
